GROWTH STARTS WITH CHANGE!

One change that has already happened is our website! Take a look around at our new CMS look. Board members will be able to change content as needed without having to know HTML, CSS or other web languages. And that can save money! And BEST of all... it is RESPONSIVE... that means it is viewable on any device you happen to be using.

Another change coming looks at how we provide continuing education for our members state wide. Read what WSGNA President Deb Schmeling has to say in her President’s Message...

The Wisconsin Society of Gastroenterology Nurses and Associates is embarking on an exciting, new forum to provide education to GI nurses and associates!!

We will be presenting education in the form of a live stream webinar. Our first presentation will air live in August and then will be able to be streamed on demand 24/7 over the next 12 months.

WSGNA members, as well as SGNA members across the United States and our GI colleagues throughout the country, will be able to watch the educational presentation on their electronic devices whenever it is convenient for them.

There are many advantages to presenting education in this format:
- reaches out to members all across our state, providing a ceu opportunity that doesn’t require travel offered on demand, available 24 hrs day/7 days a week
- members can watch the live stream multiple times once they have registered
- colleagues can still gather in a venue to watch it together and network, or registrants can watch it individually
- state-of-the-art forum to offer education, similar to the format of many professional societies
- provides a less-intimidating format for nurse speakers to present education, hopefully encouraging many of us to identify a topic and volunteer to present in the future!

Our initial topic is "Cyclic Vomiting Syndrome (CVS): What GI Nurses Need to Know," presented by Samantha Melroy, an Advanced Nurse Practitioner with Froedtert Hospital & Medical College of Wisconsin.

Since this educational presentation does not require actual physical presence, the target audience is vast. Certainly this will appeal to us WSGNA members, but it can also be marketed to SGNA chapters across the country. We hope you will support WSGNA in this innovative educational medium by participating yourselves and in sharing it with your colleagues. We already have a second speaker who has volunteered to present, and we look forward to making this a resounding success!

GI Nurses and Associates Week Celebrations

GI Nurses and Associates week was celebrated throughout the mid-western part of Wisconsin this year. Gundersen Healthcare, Mayo Clinic Healthcare, Tomah Memorial, Tri-County Whitehall, Vernon Memorial, Richland Center Hospital and Prairie du Chien Memorial Hospital GI staff were each given the GI procedure pocket guide, candy or cake.

Memberships to SGNA were also given away and the recipients are Michelle Seichter RN and Nicole Christianson Tech at Gundersen Healthcare and Judy Ginther LPN at Mayo Clinic Healthcare. Congratulations to all of you and we look forward to your involvement in WSGNA-SGNA.

Diane M Brown, RN, BSN – Member at Large

Diane,
Thank you, thank you! We appreciate your support and gifts for GI nurses day. Thank you for your kindness and dedication to GI.
Kristy Wiltzoui, Chief Operating Officer-Vernon Memorial Healthcare

Diane,
Thank you so much for the delicious cake and generous membership to SGNA. We appreciate your thoughtfulness. Thanks.
Mayo Clinic Franciscan Healthcare Endoscopy Team

Diane,
Thank you for the treats, book and memberships to SGNA-WSGNA. The importance of belonging to a professional nursing organization such as SGNA-WSGNA is evident in your commitment and promotion of the organization.
Thank you –

Why should you become a Certified GI Professional?

Certification is an attestation of commitment to professional excellence. It tells those around you that you are an individual interested in building an evidence-based relationship to nursing practice that goes beyond your day to day job.

The most important reason for a nursing professional to consider getting certified is to validate his or her competence in their specialty. Say YES in 2014 and DO IT! Apply online today for a scholarship to certify/recertify:

SPOTLIGHT: GET TO KNOW YOUR BOARD MEMBERS

Diane M. Brown, RN, BSN
Director-at-Large – Membership/Nominations
WSGNA Board member since January 2010.

“I am Diane Brown and proud to say that I have worked at Gundersen Healthcare in La Crosse, WI for 37 years. The last ten years have been in the GI Lab. I truly believe I have found my ultimate role in nursing, working in GI, serving patients with GI disorders and screening for colon cancer. Every day I learn something new. I am currently working towards my CGRN and plan on taking the exam in October of this year. I have been on the WSGNA board of directors for the last four years and plan to run for re-election at the end of my term. If anyone would be interested in talking with me about being on the board of directors I would be pleased to do this. See you soon.”

~Diane Brown, BSN
First and foremost, a very heartfelt thank you for the generous scholarship that the WSGNA awarded me for the 41st annual SGNA conference.

I attended 5 full days of the conference with great enthusiasm and embraced every opportunity to aim higher in advancing my professional development.

The conference offered a variety of opportunities to attend optional, general, concurrent, and vendor sessions. After very careful consideration of those choices I was able to attend a variety of classes in all the areas and earn 37.5 credits. It was an exciting opportunity to network with many wonderful people. I will be applying the credits earned toward my GI recertification and presenting some of the material to my co-workers. Attendance at the SGNA conference has kept my passion for GI nursing lit and has made a difference in my professional nursing practice for our GI patient population. Attending the conference has been an awesome experience. Thank you once again for this opportunity.

Dear WSGNA,
I am writing to thank you for selecting me as a scholarship recipient to attend the SGNA annual course “Blending Our Talents, Orchestrating Better Outcomes” held in Nashville, Tennessee. I was very excited to learn that I was chosen but I had one obstacle to overcome. I needed to find coverage at work so I could attend. Thanks to my wonderful coworkers at Aurora St. Luke’s Medical Center in Milwaukee, I was able to attend the annual course.

Nashville was a fantastic host city. Upon arriving for the course at Music City Center, I could hear country music while out on the street. It did not take long to understand why the course name was chosen. Music was also incorporated in numerous educational sessions. I will not be able to see another diverticula in the colon without thinking of Dr. Patricia Raymond singing to us about diverticulosis.

The program committee kept us busy with great educational offerings and networking opportunities. I especially enjoyed playing “POLYP BINGO” which was a game card that had various squares requiring signatures from a number of people who have done certain activities. This was a great networking tool and conversation starter which allowed me to make new connections with colleagues at the annual course. The vendors also contributed by providing educational programs and networking opportunities during the evening hours and in the exhibit hall.

My main objective at the annual course was to attend the educational sessions and earn continuing education credits. The credits I earned from attending these sessions will assist me when it is time to recertify with ABCGN. There was a wealth of knowledge and updates shared on such topics as esophageal motility, gastroesophageal reflux, fecal microbiota transplant, endoscopic mucosal resection, endoscope reprocessing, infection prevention, and safety and quality in endoscopy services to name just a few. The fact that caught my attention most is that the number of patients being diagnosed with esophageal cancer is on the rise. This has become more apparent to me now that I have returned to work and care for patients with this illness.

Lastly, the first and final presenters at the annual course were people who shared their experiences as patients. Both, Allison Massari and Wade Hayes, shared how they each believe their survival through their traumatic ordeal with near death experiences was a miracle. The one common theme from both their presentations was how one act of kindness from one human being can positively affect another human being. We, as nurses, are able to provide those moments and transform patient’s lives on a daily basis. For that they say “thank you”. There was not a dry eye in the audience as they spoke. Their experiences revived a passion in us as nurses and reminded us of the value we provide in healthcare. When you have a free moment, google their names and read their stories.
Again, thank you for your generosity for this most appreciated award. I encourage others to apply for a scholarship and take advantage of this opportunity provided to attend an annual course.

Sincerely,
Amy Komp, RN, BSN, CGRN

Wisconsin Society of Gastroenterology Nurses and Associates

Many thanks to the Wisconsin Society of Gastroenterology Nurses and Associates for awarding me with a $1000.00 educational scholarship to attend the 2014 SGNA 41st Annual Course in Nashville, TN. I have attended two national conferences in the past and although I enjoyed my experience each time, this by far exceeded my expectation.

The location was phenomenal. The Music City Center was the most beautiful conference center I have ever seen. The location was exceptional, right in the heart of "what’s happening" in Nashville. The location made it convenient to experience the culture of the area while still getting the most out of the educational, networking and exhibit opportunities provided.

The educational opportunities were endless offering a variety of courses to suit novice to expert. The opening general session on Sunday "Ignite the Fire Within" was so inspiring. It was good to be reminded how much maintaining our patients dignity and providing the simplest gesture of kindness can deeply impact our patient’s outcome.

The Booth CE Program increased the value of my time spent in the exhibit hall allowing me to acquire an additional 6 CEU’s while visiting with vendors and enjoying lunch. The welcome reception is always a great time and has definitely sparked my interest in learning how to line-dance :)

Lastly, the Doris Barnie general session was a wonderful addition, paying tribute to someone who has done so much for the profession of Gastroenterology Nursing... very inspiring making me "Proud to be GI".

Again, thank you for your generous scholarship. I am sure the 2015 SGNA National Conference in Baltimore, Maryland will prove to be another exceptional experience.

Pamela A. Ostrowski MS, RN, CGRN

2014 HOD Resolution Submissions and Results

Background Information: WHEREAS, GI Associates have a leadership role in shaping the future of SGNA.

Recommended Strategy(s) or Outcomes(s): RESOLVED, That SGNA develop a position on the National Board for a GI Associate Representative with voting rights. This position would encourage more participation by Associates and increased membership within SGNA’s GTS and AGTS programs.

Rationale: That SGNA Associate members will have a stronger voice of representation.

Cost Analysis/Budgetary Impact: There will be the cost of another board member but a positive impact will be seen due to increased Associate membership.

Goal1: Education: SGNA will provide access to information and educational tools centering on: emerging technologies and practices, experienced nurses, nursing leadership/management and nursing assistive personnel; each delivered through various educational modalities.

RESULT: Resolution Passed.

Background Information: WHEREAS, SGNA recognized the increase of GERD and Barrett’s Esophagus.

Recommended Strategy(s) or Outcomes(s): Resolved, that… SGNA designate a day in April to recognize and promote Esophageal Cancer Awareness.

Rationale: Increase public awareness through education and community or regional events.

Cost Analysis/Budgetary Impact: Budgetary cost of promoting days event.

Goal1: Education: SGNA will provide access to information and educational tools centering on: emerging technologies and practices, experienced nurses, nursing leadership/management and nursing assistive personnel; each delivered through various educational modalities.

Goal 3: Healthcare Policy: SGNA will actively influence policy regarding colorectal cancer awareness, infection prevention and sedation administration by working with collaborative partners. SGNA will engage and educate members on these issues.

RESULT: Resolution Passed.

Background Information: WHEREAS, March is Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month and the public is in need of education about the importance of regular colon screening and funds for research.

Recommended Strategy(s) or Outcomes(s): Resolved, that… SGNA will enlist regional societies to collaborate with colon cancer awareness group to host an annual event/walk/run to promote colon cancer awareness.

Rationale: Educate the public on screenings, and funds for colon cancer research.

Cost Analysis/Budgetary Impact: Minimal cost to inform local regional chapters on hosting the event. Revenue from walk/run would support funds for future research.

Goal1: Education: SGNA will provide access to information and educational tools centering on: emerging technologies and practices, experienced nurses, nursing leadership/management and nursing assistive personnel; each delivered through various educational modalities.

Goal 3: Healthcare Policy: SGNA will actively influence policy regarding colorectal cancer awareness, infection prevention and sedation administration by working with collaborative partners. SGNA will engage and educate members on these issues.

RESULT: Resolution Failed
WSGNA INVITES YOU TO PARTICIPATE IN “DEPARTMENT SPOTLIGHT”

WSGNA is looking for Newsletter spots about YOU! We’d like to hear about your GI department. How big is it? How busy? How many staff members do you have? What do you do to “WOW” your patients? How do you celebrate success? What makes your GI department special? And anything else you would like to say!!

We’d like our members to know more about their peers. You don’t have to be an author to submit your story. We can write it for you if you like. Here are some questions to start with. Just answer and we’ll do the rest.
